Rubber Buckets.

The application of India rubber to buckets to render them noiseless has been successfully tried in Great Britain. The bottom and the ears and the "bail" are all protected. The bottom of the pail has three round disks of rubber clamped on at the edges, and they can be readily removed and replaced. The ears are of India rubber, while the "bail" has a single disk encircling it, which answers the purpose. — Exchange.

Cocoa and chocolate are prepared from the nuts by freeing them from the pulp and making them undergo a process similar to mashing. They are afterward roasted in a perforated cylinder and are then freed from their husks and made into cocoa or chocolate.

The Boston Journal thinks it is a singular fact that in our time adventures are generally reported as possessing "a wealth of golden hair, sparkling eyes, a vivacious disposition and a strangely attractive and magnetic voice."

REAR OF THE MOUNTAIN CASE IN UTAH.

Two of the most wonderful stalactite caves in the world are located within the territory of Utah—one five miles south of Tropicville and the other 25 miles west of St. George. Neither is remarkable on account of size, and to the best of my knowledge the dignifying title of "cavern" has never been bestowed upon either of the two. They simply come within the category of the wonderful because of the immense number of stalactites of various sizes and colors which depend from their roofs. The first, the one near Tropicville, is known as La Virgin, and the other by the name of the Black Virgin.

The Virgin was discovered a few years ago by the contractor of an irrigating company, who was engaged in driving a tunnel through a mountain called "La Virgin Bench" for the purpose of tapping the river beyond. When the light was first let into this wonderful underground chamber, the effect is said to have been startling, the roof and floor glittering with cubes and points of crystalline and the roof studded with millions of minuscule stars.

The "Black Virgin" cave is a counterpart of the Virgin and is located by miners about 10 miles west of Tropicville. It is said to be 265 feet long and 100 feet wide—St. Louis Republic.

UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS.

The Silver State has been permitted to copy portions of a private letter from Reno relative to University affairs. It says among other things:

The greatest effort is being made to keep secret a change or rather a series of changes in the personnel of the University from the head down. The Regents have become dissatisfied with the character of work done in several departments and intend to reorganize the faculty from President to gardener at the end of the present school year. Of course this does not mean that all who are now in the employ of the State will have to go, but some will surely. We don't care particularly, so far as our work goes, and in some respects we will be glad of a change.

There are two suggestive sentences in the above extract. One is "the greatest effort is being made to keep secret a change, or rather a series of changes in the personnel of the University," and the other "we don't care particularly, so far as our work goes." As the Regents are the only persons who can make a change in University affairs it is surprising that they should have to exert themselves to such a great extent to keep their own counsel. The University is a public institution. The law places its management in a Board of Regents. That Board has a secretary and its proceedings are recorded. The records are open to the inspection of the public and unless they show that a motion has been adopted favoring a change in the Faculty there is not much in what the Silver State copies from the private letter.

But who are the "we don't care particularly, so far as our work goes?" The remark implies that the private letter was written by one or more persons connected with the University who know the secrets of the Regents and get the public to assist in keeping them.

The records of the Board of Regents do not show that any action has been taken indicating a change in the Faculty of the University. The Board meets to-day, however, and possibly may take action in the matter.

THE VALUE OF THE GREENBACK.

Senator Jones of Nevada is recognized as an authority on questions pertaining to money and its value. Though his financial views are wholly at variance with those of the Republicans, and accord with those of the Populists, the golden papers of Nevada, which represent the Populists as visionary theorists, never take exceptions to what the Senator says, though they empty the vials of their wrath on Populists who express exactly the same views. For instance, in discussing the question, "What gives value to the greenback?" Senator Jones says:

Nobody who has reflected on the subject for a moment doubts that what gives "value" or exchangeable power to the greenback was not the promise made on its face, without date, to pay a dollar, but the inscription on its back which declared it a legal tender for all dues and demands, public and private, except duties on imports. It was a misfortune to mankind that the words "promise to pay" were printed on it, because by it millions were led to believe that the "value" or exchangeable power resided in the promise instead of in the legal tender power conferred upon it.

Several local financial writers who have been contending that such views as those expressed by Senator Jones are rank heresies, should reflect on the subject a moment. They will observe that the Senator asserts what they deny, that Congress gave the greenback value, not by the promise to pay, without date, on its face, but by the inscription on its back which declared it a legal tender.

If the Senator is right, and it is doubtful if there is a Republican in Nevada who will deny that he is, then those who assert that Congress, which gave paper value by making it a legal tender, has not the power to give silver value by coining it into legal tender money, must be wrong.

THE GILMAN-BEE LIBEL SUIT.

Judge Catlin of the Superior Court of California in the libel case of C. H. Gilman against the Sacramento Bee, has given the plaintiff $300 damages. Gilman was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Estelle Truitt, employed as a domestic in Gilman's household, who charged him with criminal assault. The Bee published the woman's story on which the warrant was issued together with Gilman's denial as made at the office of the Bee. Gilman claimed that the Bee should not publish the woman's story, as he denied it, and informed the Bee that it was a part of a blackmailing scheme, and he brought suit against the Bee for $50,000 damages.

The Court holds that the publishers of the Bee clearly acted without malice, but as Gilman declared that the statement was untrue before it was published, the Bee assumed all risks in publishing it. Now the Bee having failed to prove to the satisfaction of the Court that Gilman committed the crime charged, must pay damages, which, because of mitigating circumstances, were placed at $300.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Stewart Introduces a Free Coinage Bill—Determined to Get Rid of the Sugar Bounty.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—In the Senate Stewart introduced a bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, which was laid on the table for the present.

Dolph introduced a joint resolution declaring that the treaty between the United States and Great Britain, regarding the construction of the canal at Nicaragua, commonly known as the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, is no longer in force.

A plan for abolishing sugar bounties without waiting for its repeal in the tariff bill has been informally discussed among members of the House who are radically opposed to bounty in general and sugar bounty in particular. It has been suggested to members of the Ways and Means Committee that a bounty repeal amendment be attached as a rider to the Legislative and Judicial Appropriation bill. The committee has taken no action on the suggestion, nor is it likely to for the present, as it would indicate a fear that the tariff bill might fail.

Warner of New York, who secured the passage of the amendment to the Wilson bill placing raw and refined sugar on the free list, says: "We will get rid of sugar bounties in one way or another. If they are contained in the tariff bill as it comes back from the Senate, we will reach them by a special bill or a repeal rider will be attached to some other bill, that gives promise of accomplishing the end quickest. As yet, however, there is no definite plan, but the sentiment against bounties is so strong that a plan will readily be formulated as soon as opportunity offers. Nothing is likely to be done, however, until the Senate passes on the sugar schedule."

General Coxey's army broke camp yesterday morning at Allison, O., and left at 9 o'clock for Salem, thirteen miles. One hundred and ninety-two men were in line.

A letter from the Captain of the schooner Frank M. Noyes stated that he passed the wrecked steamer Kearsarge on March 6th and that five wrecking schooners were about her stripping the ship.

A dispatch which reached Washington yesterday from Lieutenant Force announced that the wreck of the Kearsarge is fast going to pieces and that it is impossible to save her.

The examination of Wm. Fredricks for the murder of Wm. A. Herrick was begun yesterday at San Francisco. The courtroom was crowded. No evidence was elicited of a nature different from what has been published.

In the Pollard-Breckenridge trial yesterday a stir was created by the placing of R. R. Rosselle on the witness stand. He is a young Kentuckian and was engaged to Miss Pollard at one time. When Miss Pollard entered the room he appeared very much embarrassed and dropped his eyes, fumbling meanwhile a book nervously.

MONEY.

The Legal Tender Clause Gives It Its Chief Value.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—In a recent issue of your paper R. R. Fulton quotes the following from Dr. Hogan's article:

A piece of standard gold weighing twenty-five and eight-tenths grains is the money of the United States which, by law, is declared to be of the value of one dollar.

And then makes the following comment:

The law does not say the value of the piece shall be one dollar, it says the name of it shall be one dollar and it leaves to commerce and the needs of business the regulation of its value.

In another article published a day or two later, Mr. Fulton expresses himself more fully and his closing paragraph reads as follows:

The law makes the dollar of which the materials are worth but fifty-two cents worth a dollar in other money by putting its credit into it, not by raising the value of the metal in it (which it cannot do), the same as you make a piece of paper, value one mill, worth ten or a hundred dollars by signing your name to a note written upon it, and not by raising the value of the paper itself, which is forever spoiled.

These two statements of R. L. Fulton are quoted to get his views as fully as possible on the question. To condense the two statements into as brief a statement as possible Congress stamps the coin and calls it a dollar, and leaves to commerce and the needs of business the regulation of its value, and then coins other kinds of dollars and makes them as good as any other dollar by putting its credit into the cheaper dollar. In his last article Mr. Fulton admits that the law can raise the value of a coin by putting its credit into it, but his comparison of the Government with an individual in this case is very unfortunate. The Government, when it is allowed to act independently of the bankers and bondholders, can coin dollars out of silver and say that these dollars shall be full legal tender for all debts, public and private, the gold clause to the contrary notwithstanding. Then the bondholder, the pawnbroker, the extortioner, in fact all creditors would have to show just as much respect for the silver dollar as they do the gold dollar, and with the free coinage of this kind of full legal tender dollars would immediately bring the bullion value of silver up to $1.29 an ounce.

Mr. Fulton will hardly deny that the demonetization of silver by the United States has caused a great depreciation in the market price of silver bullion. The people of this country have more need of full legal tender money than any people on earth for they are more hopelessly in debt. As silver was demonetized and the currency destroyed in the interest of the bondholder and extortioner, it should now be restored and the people allowed enough currency to transact their business and pay their debts, otherwise the debts will never be paid and wholesale repudiation will be the result.

A great many bondholders pretend to fear that the free coinage of silver by the United States might result in the balance of the world dumping all its silver on our shores. They are needlessly alarmed for, if their worst fears were realized, Uncle Sam could store that silver in a vault that would not cover two acres of ground. There would not be over $4,000,000,000 of it, and should the debtors of this country be so fortunate as to gain possession of it all, it would not pay ten per cent of their debts. Let us have free coinage of silver, and let the balance of the world begin to dump; the bondholders need an object lesson. FARMER.

"A Railroad Ticket"

"A Railroad Ticket" has been reconstructed since last season and is now in the farce-comedy field well equipped for success. Its principal motive power in this direction is found in its change of management, W. W. Freeman, who has been with Frank Daniels for four or five years, having taken charge. The result of his experience and business instinct is seen at once in the company he has secured, which is fully up to the requirements of the latest farce-comedy fashions. The piece is supplied with catchy vocal music and moves with dash and spirit. Arthur Moulton, one of the best light comedy men on the stage, who was with Frank Daniels so long, has a fine opportunity in the farce. James T. Kelly, a young eccentric farce actor of great promise, James Devins, Harry Blaney, Harry Porter and others are all specially qualified for the work they have to do. Complete as the organization is, however, Mr. Freeman has been most fortunate, according to farce comedy standards, in selecting a bevy of handsome young women who are good singers, lively dancers, and know how to wear pretty costumes. Anna Caldwell, Rose Cheaneau, Hattie Waters, Jeanette Bageard, Marie Bach and Eva Kelley all do their best toward making their roles attractive. The mechanical effects of the piece are numerous and novel. "A Railroad Ticket" will be the attraction at the Opera House next Saturday night.

The President is to send the Bland Seigniorage bill to the House to-day without his signature. There is no probability of the bill being passed over the veto. Nearly one-half of the Democratic members and three-fourths or more of the Republicans will sustain the veto. The Republicans in Congress endorse the President's financial policy, whatever the office seekers of Carson and Reno may say to the contrary. The Wall Street combination is solid against silver. The record proves that fact without doubt or dispute.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA HAS CURED OTHERS WILL CURE YOU

A Bright Lad, Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong." T. D. M., Norcross, Kans.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Cures others, will cure you
